

COVID-19 Action Initiative

COVID-19 is a lung infection.

As the outbreak of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) continues to spread throughout the U.S. and globally, we are seeing an uptick in the spread of myths and misinformation about COVID-19. Trust the American Lung Association to provide science-backed public health information for all of your lung health needs, including COVID-19.

Follow Lung.org/covid19 for access to:

- Weekly webinars with our Chief Medical Officer
- Online support communities
- Daily updates on the latest fact-based information

Or call our Lung HelpLine at 1-800-LUNGUSA for one-on-one support. Our respiratory therapists and registered nurses can help answer your specific questions.

COVID-19
Action Initiative

How You Can Help

We have launched the $25M COVID-19 Action Initiative to end COVID-19 and address future respiratory virus pandemics. Leaning on our trusted model of tackling public health issues through education, advocacy and research, you can support our efforts at Lung.org/cv19-action.